Gateway to the net

ADAM Internet will host a technology show in July. The exposition will allow business and home users to try out new technologies and get expert advice.

More than 70 exhibitors will take part and interactive workshops will be held on a range of technology issues.

A key component will be business-to-business seminars, which will include getting the most out of the internet and disaster recovery. The event will be held at the Adelaide Showgrounds from Friday, July 11, to Sunday, July 13.
